

Andy Dejneka

I see wood in a different perspective than most... with reverence to the past life and pride in its' future as a piece of furniture . Since 1983, my career was a result of my passion and I have taken on any building project that called for "out of the box" thinking and applied my unique approach to any project. I operate my own mill and shop and can produce anything from wardrobes to wine cellars. I have repurposed and shaped genuine architectural beams that will transform any dwelling into something of interest and purpose.
